MATCH SETTINGS

QUALIFICATION STAGE

King of the Desert V offers no invitations. This means that all players must go through one of the two unforgivable qualification stages. All thirty-two players that make it to the end of the qualification stage will make it into the main event of the tournament. The qualification stages consist of four rounds of single-elimination. The first three rounds are all played in rapid succession, which means that as soon as a match has been completed, the next match must begin as soon as the next opponent is determined. For the last round, played on the following day, players will be divided into four groups. Each group will contain eight matchups that will be played concurrently. Once all matchups in a group have concluded or the next starting time has been reached, the next group of matchups will commence.

 GO TO QUALIFICATION COVERAGE

This optional spreadsheet above has been created to help distribute coverage throughout the qualification stages, allowing broadcasters to assign themselves specific games and view what matchups other broadcasters are planning to cover.

MAIN EVENT

All winners from the two qualification stages will go straight into the first round of the main event.

STARTING ROUND

The main event begins with a round of single-elimination, a fight to the death, to determine who will make it into the group stage of the tournament. Anyone losing this round will be entirely eliminated from the tournament.

All games in this round are played consecutively to ensure complete coverage.

MAIN EVENT, ROUND OF 32 BEST OF FIVE

GROUP STAGE

The group stage can be seen as an expanded version of the GSL system, focusing on avoiding repeat matchups.

The group stage as a whole is divided into two groups. Players are divided based on their current seed. Within the groups, players are arranged by score; then, within a group, the highest-seeded player will face the lowest-seeded player. If the previous factors end up with a repeat matchup, the no-repeat matchup rule will take precedence, and the players will be switched.

Ties are inevitable with this system and will be broken by the two following factors. Firstly, by checking whether the players have played each other earlier. If they have, whoever won the head-to-head match will break the tie. If they have not played earlier, the player with the highest seed will break the tie.

GROUP STAGE, OPENING MATCHES BEST OF FIVE

FINAL STAGE

The final stage of the tournament is reserved for the absolute best players making it out of the brutal group stage preceding this stage. The final stage of the tournament will be a test of skill and endurance as we ramp up the match length to seven games and with a grand final of nine games.

Furthermore, a third-place match will take place on the last day of the event, to ensure everyone's warmed up for the grand final.
